EDUCATIONAL LEITMOTIV

- I believe that education should be used for the common good, i.e., to improve the lives of individuals in their communities. To see young people expand their horizons and make the most of their opportunities is of great importance to me. My goal is to help them capture and partake in unique opportunities to learn, to serve, to lead, and to overcome failure. I hope to help my students unlock their potential, build connections among people who otherwise might never speak to one another, and develop their skills to create their own bright futures.
