

Filip Devos obtained an MA in Germanic languages (1986) and a PhD in linguistics (2004) at Ghent University. From 1989 until 2004 he was a scientific researcher and an assistant at the department of Dutch at Ghent University. His research concentrates predominantly on contrastive linguistics, word formation, loan words, lexical semantics, syntax of Dutch, idiomatic language, and spelling and grammar education. In 2007 he became assistant professor of Dutch linguistics at the Faculty of Applied Language Studies of University College Ghent, and in 2015 he became associate professor at Ghent University. He is editor in chief of the journal Over taal.